NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

Edwin Booth will start for the West tomorrow, to fulfill the engagements that he made before his attack of illness at Rochester. He has entirely recovered.

Gov. Ames of Massachusetts announces through the Boston Journal his intention to retire at the close of his term. Ex-Congressman Crapo and Lieut. Gov. Brackett are already in the field as candidates for the succession. Gov. Ames is in poor health. He has been elected three times.

MEREDITH STANLEY jumped from the high bridge over the Ohio at Cincinnati Thursday afternoon, a height of 285 feet. As he descended towards the water he drew his body up like a ball, his knees being pressed against his chest. His feet struck the rocky bottom of the river and he rebounded to the surface. When pulled into a boat he was unconscious, but soon recovered. Yesterday he was at work, none the worse for his awful leap, which is said to beat the biggest that Steve Brodie has made.

ANTHONY COMSTOCK has secured the removal from office of David Blair, Postmaster at Broadalbin, Fulton county, who had been operating as a sort of agent for the "green goods" swindlers. Under his favorable manipulations the swindlers secured the delivery from the office of thirty or forty letters per day, which was more than the average receipts by the entire population. This business is very dangerous to swindlers unless they can get some one in the postoffice to protect them.

THE correspondence in which Secretary Blaine invited Minister Belmont to remain at his post in Madrid till Mr. Palmer could reach that city, is published. The Secretary compliments Mr. Belmont as "a faithful and competent representative," whose retirement is regretted. The Democratic sympathy recently expended upon Mr. Belmont because he was the first man bounced was wasted. His resignation was received at Washington by cable three days before Mr. Cleveland's retirement.

ANOTHER of those ocean mysteries that create universal fear and anxiety is reported. The ocean steamer Danmark, which sailed from Christiansand, Norway, March 26th, with 700 people on board, has been found at sea a floating wreck, without a soul left to tell the story of her disaster. The only hope of those whose friends were on board is that she might have been passed by another ship and her passengers and crew rescued. This is not by any means impossible or even improbable, and the hope will be clung to for weeks if nothing more is heard.

THE White Caps in Dubois county, Ind., aroused themselves from a condition of innocuous desuetude Thursday morning, in order to whip John Lansford, a road surveyor, for impounding their hogs. When they arrived at his house at 1 p. m. and proceeded to go through his premises he opened fire upon them with a double-barreled shot-gun. They returned the fire, whereupon he took down a brace of seven-shooter pistols and continued the defense. The result was a retreat of the White Caps with three wounded men who had to be carried on the shoulders of their comrades. Lansford's son received a slight flesh wound.

NANCY BROOKS of Ohio was granted yesterday the pension that was denied her when the Bureau was in Democratic hands. Her son, a soldier, was drowned in West Virginia while bathing. Commissioner Black rejected the claim on the ground that "his death had no direct connection with his military duty." Assistant Secretary Bussey decides that he was obeying the command of his superior officer to keep himself in a cleanly condition. The average Democrat may remark that this is a strained or doubtful construction of facts, but patriotic men will be pleased to observe that the soldier gets the benefit of the doubt every time under the new order of things.

HERBERT F. BECHER, son of Henry Ward Beecher, has been indicted, along with two others, at Port Townsend, Washington Territory, for stealing money from the government. These men hold offices in the custom house, and systematically robbed the government by reporting smaller amounts than were collected. Thus, on the British bark Madeira, which came into the port last June, duties amounting to $6,038 were collected, but only $5,044 was reported to the government. The stealings amounted to many thousands of dollars a year. Beecher was "under a cloud" when Mr. Cleveland appointed him, as a reward for his father's support in 1884. A term in prison seems necessary to straighten out his moral crookedness.

SOME orphans are badly needed in Poughkeepsie. The will of John Guy Vassar bequeathed $80,000 for the building of an orphan asylum and $100,000 for the support of the inmates, who are to be indigent and legitimate orphans of Dutchess county. The Eagle recently started an inquiry concerning the prospect for founders, and has received returns from fifteen towns. In these there are five towns yet to hear from, but they are not expected to yield any orphans. The prospect for the two children who are to live in an $80,000 edifice and eat up the income of a $100,000 investment is overwhelming. They realize that it was better to be born lucky than rich.

A TRIBUNE reporter has heard from a young New York mechanic who went to Washington Territory last fall. He writes that he is earning between $40 and $50 a week at his trade and did not wear an overcoat or gloves during the winter. On the first of this month the weather was like May at the East, the farmers had nearly finished their spring planting, and the markets displayed green peas, beans, radishes and lettuce. Opportunities equal to the one he has struck are to be found in all parts of the territory. The mildness of Washington weather has been known. It is due to the Pacific "gulf stream," which sweeps across the ocean from Japan and strikes the American coast between San Francisco and the Alaska Peninsula. Oklahoma is not the only "paradise" that our government holds for the people.

DANMARK'S PASSENGERS

Are Believed to Have Been Rescued by a Steamer.

LATE NEWS FROM SAMOA.

TIDINGS OF DISASTER

During the Recent Storm on the Virginia Coast.

THE RUSH OF EMIGRANTS.

During the Week 12,000 Sailed For the United States.

TO-DAY'S APPOINTMENTS.

LIST OF DANMARK'S PASSENGERS In Mails of British Mail Arrived Last Night; No Tidings.

New-York, April 13.—The mails from the steamer Britannic, which arrived last night, were distributed, this morning, and among the letters was one for Funch, Edey & Company containing a full list of the passengers on the abandoned steamer Danmark. No news concerning the fate of the passengers and crew has yet been received, but the agents of the steamer, which is by this time probably on the bed of the ocean, are hopeful that some passing vessel may have taken them off. In hoping for this good fortune they are half expert and half ill-fated, for the steamer, which is by this time probably on the bed of the ocean, is hopeful that some passing vessel may have taken them off. In hoping for this good fortune they are half expert and half ill-fated, for the steamer, which is by this time probably on the bed of the ocean, is hopeful that some passing vessel may have taken them off.

TELEGRAMS are arriving every hour asking for information concerning friends who were to be on the steamer. A great number of people, who by this time expected to greet their friends, linger around the door of the passenger agent's office, anxious to hear tidings, and yet fearful that the news that may reach them will blast all hopes.

PASSENGERS BELIEVED RESCUED.

LONDON, April 13.—Captain Bond, of the human steamer City of Chester, which sighted the abandoned steamer Danmark, believes the passengers and crew of the Danmark were rescued. He bases his belief on the fact that the Danmark's bodies were gone. A chain cable was seen hanging over the bow of the Danmark, and this leads Captain Bond to believe it had been in tow of another vessel. It has been definitely ascertained that there were 722 persons on board the steamer Danmark. This number includes 628 passengers and 54 officers and crew.

THE "ISLAND" AT SANDY HOOK. New-York, April 13.—The steamer Island, from Copenhagen, which it is believed may have some news of the passengers of the steamer Danmark, was sighted off Sandy Hook lightship at 1:45 p. m.

DISASTERS DURING RECENT STORM.

Bark Run Ashore to Prevent Foundering; Men Lost From Vessels.

NORFOLK, Va., April 13.—The Norwegian bark reported ashore near Big Kinnakeet life-saving station, N. C., proves to be the Wolsley, Captain Olson, from the River Platte to Portland, Me., with no cargo. The vessel sprang a leak during the recent gale and was run ashore to prevent its foundering.

Its crew of 13 men were saved by the Big Kinnakeet life-saving crew. The bark will probably be a total loss.

Matthew Granbury, colored, and Robert Whitehurst, a white boy, were drowned when the schooner Parrot went down in Albemarle Sound.

Frederick Gaskill and a man named Bailey, who were on the schooner Caroline, were also lost.

Seven horses, 200 sheep and some cattle were swept off Paramore Beach, Accomac County, Va., during the storm last Saturday night and drowned.

Captain John Sparrow, residing on Pungoteague Creek, Va., was drowned during the storm.

THE ADLER ENCOUNTERED STORMS.

New-York, April 13.—The steamer Adler, which arrived from Bremen last night, encountered severe storms and rough weather. During the last three days of its voyage the water continually washed over the vessel, tearing away its life boats and breaking its guard rails. One of the crew was washed overboard and drowned.

SAFE IN OREGON.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., April 13.—Advices received here state that Captain James Robinson, of the fishing steamer George H. Chase, reported wrecked off the Coast of Oregon with the crew missing, is safe in Oregon.

MANY BODIES RECOVERED AT SAMOA.

Nipic is So Badly Injured It May Not Return to the United States.

By Cable to The Freeman. SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 13.—The German warship Olga, which was stranded during the recent hurricane at Samoa, has arrived here for the purpose of repairing its damages, which are slight. It brought from Apia the Commander, two officers and 20 of the crew of the German warship Adler, which was wrecked in the same storm. The crew of the Olga, of 138 men, will proceed from here to Samoa, where it will take on board the crews of the wrecked American warships. It will then convey them to San Francisco.

The steamer Lubeck, from Apia April 2, has arrived here. It reports that the Nipic is so badly injured that it is doubtful whether it will be able to return to the United States.

A large number of the bodies of the officers and men of the various ships who were drowned during the storm have been recovered and buried.

The officers of the wrecked German warship Eber were also on board the Lubeck. They will proceed to Germany on the steamer Hamburg, which sails from here April 24. One hundred men belonging to the German fleet, including three officers, remain at Apia to guard German interests.

The Olga reports that the Nipic lost its rudder and propeller, and that the Trenton is full of water. The Adler lies in the same position in which the storm left it. The hull of the Olga is sound, with the exception of a hole in its stern which was made when it stranded. Two plates had been riveted over this hole, and the ship made no water during the voyage here.

ARRIVAL OF HURRICANE SURVIVORS.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—The steamship Alameda arrived at 9 o'clock this morning from Australia. It touched at the Samoan Islands and has on board a number of officers and sailors from the men-of-war wrecked in Apia harbor. The Alameda had one of the roughest trips in its experience, encountering gales and heavy seas until it reached Honolulu. It stopped at Tutuila, an island of the Samoan group, at 10 o'clock on the morning of March 29, where it found the American schooner Equator with American war mails and 10 cadets, from the American war ships, wrecked at Apia. Captain Morse, upon learning of the disaster to the American ships, at once sailed for Apia. On that day he met the mail carrier and received the German mails. At Apia the Alameda took on board 39 wounded seamen; also Lieutenant Ripley and 29 wounded seamen to come up on the Honolulu steamer. The Alameda brought the following naval cadets from the men-of-war wrecked: R. Stoeber, E. W. Heibls, B. C. Decker, B. W. Wells, W. S. Coker, G. W. Logan and R. Jackson, and naval cadets H. A. Wiley, L. A. Stafford and J. A. Lejeune, of the Vandallia.

LIST OF DANMARK'S PASSENGERS

In Mails of Britannic which Arrived Last Night; No Tidings.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, April 13.—The mails from the steamer Britannic, which arrived last night, were distributed, this morning, and among the letters was one for Funch, Edye & Company containing a full list of the passengers on the abandoned steamer Danmark. No news concerning the fate of the passenger and crew has yet been received, but the agents of the steamer, which is, hope-fully, on the bed of the ocean, are hope-fully that some passing vessel may have taken them off. In hoping for this good fortune they are half expectant that it will have fallen to the lot of their own steamer, the Island, to have performed such a good piece of work. The Island left Christiansand March 30, and is expected here at any moment. No other steamers have arrived with any news of having fallen in with drifting boats, and this increases the hope that some steamship rendered timely assistance and took the shipwrecked passengers and their boats all on board.

Telegrams are arriving every hour asking for information concerning friends who were to be on the steamer. A great number of people, who by this time expected to greet their friends, linger around the door of the passenger agent's office, anxious to hear tidings, and yet fearful that the news that may reach them will blast their hopes.

PASSENGERS BELIEVED RESCUED.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, April 13.—Captain Bond, of the Inman steamer City of Chester, which sighted the abandoned steamer Danmark, believes the passengers and crew of the Danmark were rescued. He bases his belief on the fact that the Danmark's boats were gone. A chain cable was seen hanging over the bow of the Danmark, and this leads Captain Bond to believe it had been in tow of another vessel. It has been definitely ascertained that there were 722 persons on board the steamer Danmark. This number includes 628 passengers and 54 officers and crew.

TIE "ISLAND" AT SANDY HOOK.

NEW-YORK, April 13.—The steamer Island, from Copenhagen, which it is believed may have some news of the passengers of the steamer Danmark, was sighted off Sandy Hook lightship at 1:45 p. m.

DISASTERS DURING RECENT STORM.

Barb Run Ashore to Prevent Foundering; Lost From Vessels.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

NORFOLK, Va., April 13.—The Norwegian bark reported ashore near Big Kinnakeet life-saving station, N. C., proves to be the Wolsley, Captain Olson, from the River Plate to Portland, Me., with no cargo. The vessel sprang a leak during the recent gale and was run ashore to prevent its foundering. Its crew of 13 men were saved by the Big Kinnakeet life-saving crew. The bark will probably be a total loss.

Matthew Granbury, colored, and Robert Whitehurst, a white boy, were drowned when the schooner Parrot went down in Albemarle Sound.

Frederick Gaskill and a man named Bailey, who were on the schooner Caroline, were also lost.

Seven horses, 200 sheep and some cattle were swept off Paramore Beach, Accomac County, Va., during the storm last Saturday night and drowned.

Captain John Sparrow, residing on Pungoteague Creek, Va., was drowned during the storm.

Nipile is So Badly Injured It May Not Return to the United States.

By Cable to The Freeman.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 13.—The German warship Olga, which was stranded during the recent hurricane at Samoa, has arrived here for the purpose of repairing its damages, which are slight. It brought from Apia the Commander, two officers and 20 of the crew of the German warship Adler, which was wrecked in the same storm. The screw steamer Rockton, of 1,195 tons, will proceed from here to Samoa, where it will take on board the crews of the wrecked American war ships. It will then convey them to San Francisco.

The steamer Lubeck, from Apia April 2, has arrived here. It reports that the Nipile is so badly injured that it is doubtful whether it will be able to return to the United States.

A large number of the bodies of the officers and men of the German ships, who were drowned during the storm have been recovered and buried.

The officers of the wrecked German warship Eber were also on board the Lubeck. They will proceed to Germany on the steamer Hapsburg, which sails from Apia April 24. One hundred men belonging to the German fleet, including three officers, remain at Apia to guard German interests.

The Olga reports that the Nipile lost its rudder and propeller, and that the Trenton is full of water. The Adler lies in the same position in which the storm left it. The hull of the Olga is sound, with the exception of a hole in its stern which was made when it struck at Tutuila, and a hole in its side, and the ship made no water during the voyage here.

ARRIVAL OF HURRICANE SURVIVORS.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—The steamer Alameda arrived at 9 o'clock this morning from Australia. It touched at the Samoan Islands and has on board a number of officers and sailors from the men-of-war wrecked in Apia harbor. The Alameda had one of the roughest trips in its experience, encountering gales and heavy seas until it reached Honolulu. It stopped at Tutuila, and then at the Samoan group, at 10 o'clock on the morning of March 29, where it found the American schooner Equator with American mails and 10 cadets, from the American warship wrecked at Apia. Captain Morse, upon learning of the disaster to the American ships, at once sailed for Apia. On that day he met the mail cutter and received the German mails at Apia. The Alameda took on board 30 wounded seamen; also Lieutenant Ripley and 29 wounded seamen to come up on the Honolulu steamer. The Alameda brought the following naval cadets from the men-of-war Trenton: R. Stocker, F. W. Helms, B. C. Decker, B. W. Clark, C. W. Logan and R. Jackson, and naval cadets, H. A. Wiley, L. A. Stafford and J. A. Lejeune, of the Vandalia.

SUCCESS IN HATCHING SHEEPHEAD.

Letter from Commander of the United States Fish Commission Steamer.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

BOSTON, April 13.—A letter from Lieutenant Robert P. Smith, commanding the United States Fish Commission steamer Fish Hawk, says much success has been met with in hatching sheephead. Up to April 1, 19,500, 000 sheephead eggs had been obtained and impregnated. It was not possible to handle that number of eggs, and the hatching apparatus on board the Fish Hawk and 4,000,000 of the impregnated eggs were put overboard to hatch under natural conditions. Of the remainder 9,775, 000 fry had been hatched out and put to sea. It takes about two days to hatch the eggs, and in one or two days more the fry are ready to be deposited in the sea. The fish from which the eggs were obtained were taken at Punta Gorda and Boca Grand Pass.

NO CHANGE IN ROUTE OF PROCESSION.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, April 13.—Colonel Cruger, Chairman of the Military Committee, has decided not to change the line of march of the military parade on April 30. He says it would be very appropriate to pass by the statues of Washington and Lafayette, but it would be bad policy to change the route of the parade at this late day. The University Place stand would be of no value, and many persons who have secured windows on Fifth-avenue would be deprived of seeing the parade.

THE OKLAHOMA RUSH.

There are plenty of predictions of serious trouble in the Oklahoma lands on and after the 22d inst. The section thrown open to settlement comprises only 2,000,000 acres, and it is estimated that not fewer than 100,000 boomers are preparing to swoop down upon the territory on the first day, prepared to claim 100 acres each and to defend it with revolver and bowie knife. The universal anxiety that prevails over what may happen will probably induce the government to establish thorough preventive measures. "Forewarned is forearmed," and the government that has thrown open the rich and greatly coveted area to the American people will probably be prepared to protect them from harm in their efforts to secure a home. Eventually there will be an adjustment which will not leave the territory overcrowded. A great many people are going forward without means to maintain an existence till the first crop is grown. Others will squat upon the lands of the Cherokee outlet and remain there until the negotiations with the Indians for the transfer of this land to the government are completed. The Indians own these lands, are greatly attached to them, and do not wish to sell them, but they are sufficiently intelligent to know that they must get out of the way. They have no rights which a white boomer feels bound to respect, and the utmost that the government can undertake to do is to hold the adventurers in check till the savages have time to depart in peace. Then when negotiations are completed there will be another rush, to be repeated until the entire Indian territory is absorbed and covered, and the Indians are huddled into a corner. The red man, in refusing to accept white civilization, doomed himself to extermination. His only chance in life is to become civilized, obtain the rights and assume the responsibilities of citizenship, and become a white man in all respects except color. He cannot maintain a separate existence as a savage, but he can permit himself to be absorbed into the white population and assimilated.

The Oklahoma and Cherokee strips together comprise a territory larger than Maryland, and the actual settlers upon the former and squatters upon the latter are likely to cover every acre of available farming land before the middle of May.

There is of course a chance for bloody work in this rush of bold and desperate men, but we look to the government to prevent this. The War Department is taking the necessary steps with promptness and energy to preserve peace. The more serious question is that of rendering to the Indian owners of the lands upon which white men have cast their eyes exact justice. They must sell their lands, but they should not be denied an honorable equivalent or rudely hustled off without time to prepare other homes.

A CHANCE FOR AN AMBITIOUS COUNTY.

Mr. Husted's bill for the removal of the state prison from Sing Sing passed the Assembly yesterday with only two opposing votes. This unanimity indicates the popularity of the measure, and renders probable its passage by the Senate and its approval by the Governor. Sing Sing is very tired of the prison in its midst. It has a laudable ambition to become a school town and a center of all good influences. Its nearness to New York would naturally cause it to be sought also as a place of residence or of summer resort by business men who wish rural life for their families while attending to business affairs themselves. But the prison blocks progress. The town of Ossining, in which Sing Sing is situated, cast only 223 more votes for President in 1888 than in 1880, a gain of less than 13 per cent. The gain in Westchester county entire in the same period was 10,520, or more than 41 per cent. The prison has proved a blight to the town.

The bill provides for the appointment of a commission to provide for the removal of the prison to some other site in a county east of the sixth judicial district. The eastern counties of that district are Delaware and Otsego. The counties lying due east of these are Schoharie, Albany, Rensselaer, Greene, Columbia, Ulster and Dutchess. In one of these seven counties the institution is therefore likely to be planted. It cannot go farther north without trenching upon the domain of Danemora or south without encountering the objections that are driving it out of Sing Sing. Mr. Husted stated in his speech in support of the bill the opinion that the prison should be placed somewhere where convicts could work at quarrying, agriculture and other things which would not interfere with honest labor. In this remark he evidently had his mind on Ulster county.

The FREEMAN has several times suggested that the place for a great prison is in the Catskill regions, where timber and stone are abundant. Here land is cheap, and the buildings and walls could be constructed from the material at hand. The opportunities for employment at quarrying are limitless, and a big and fertile farm could be evolved from the valleys and mountain slopes. A great and profitable market for farm products would also be created, and several lines of manufacture would find profitable support from prison patronage. The vigorous air of the mountains would soon silence all complaints of the decline of the health of the convicts or of the decay of their mental faculties. The removal of Sing Sing prison, which is almost certain to take place, opens some very desirable possibilities for Ulster county if the opportunity is improved. We do not want the prison in Kingston, in Saugerties or any other centre of population, but among the mountains it would be innocuous.

OF INTEREST TO ALL WHO READ.

The new Postmaster General has cut the bungling and cumbersome red tape with which the late administration tied up the newspaper service on trains, and it has been done through the exertions of Hon. E. Prentiss Bailey, of the Utica Observer, a Democratic editor and Postmaster. For years the newspaper reporters and correspondents had been permitted to send their "copy" by train over other than those carrying mails, the service being generally rendered by employees in the baggage departments of the roads. A Democratic Inspector conceived that this was a violation of the law, and several railroad companies, desiring to be on the safe side, issued orders forbidding the employees from carrying news and correspondence to newspapers. This left the latter no resource except the mails, which ran only once or twice a day, and not always at an hour convenient for publication. A modification was sought, but the best that could be obtained was a permission to the trains to carry the matter if it was placed in government envelopes bearing the embossed stamp. This was still very inconvenient, and imposed a heavy and useless tax.

A change of administration gave the newspapers a chance to appeal, with the hope of securing more liberal treatment. The subject was presented to Postmaster General Wanamaker through Russell B. Harrison, a newspaper publisher and the son of the President. The conclusion of the matter appears in the following letter:

POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13, 1889.
Hon. Russell B. Harrison, Executive Mansion.
SIR: I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst., in relation to the carriage of newspapers for publication by private express or trainman, and to advise you that the Department has never insisted that it is unlawful to carry by express or private carriage such newspapers as are intended for publication, when not accompanied by any matter in the nature of personal correspondence. More news matter prepared by the contributors of the press for the columns of their papers can, under this ruling, be carried by express or otherwise than in the mails.

But if any matter in the nature of personal correspondence is enclosed with such newspaper, it can only be carried under government stamp and envelope. Very respectfully,
JOS. W. NAMAKER, Postmaster General.

The managers of railroads will perceive that they are released by this decision from the rulings of an administration which found it to its own political interest to hamper and harass the newspaper press. Mr. Bailey has done his fellow publishers a valuable service in taking up the question the first moment that he saw a prospect of a favorable ruling. He would hardly have dared to present it to the late administration unless he had got tired of the Post-office and desired to be ordered out.

PUBLIC OPINION.

Party treason is always odious, and the very painful belief is in the minds of the people of Cleveland was betrayed—was sold out. This betrayal accounts for the election of Hill and the defeat of Cleveland.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

San Domingo, undeterred by the fate of its sister republic, Hayti, has fired on our flag. Would that Thomas Francis Bayard were on deck for a day! Mr. Blaine will never condescend to bully a Power of that size.—Buffalo Express.

Ex-Postmaster Pearson's health is said to be poor. It is doubtful if he could discharge the duties of the office he has held for eight years much longer. It was really an act of mercy on President Harrison's part to remove that man from office; but they can't make those mugwump editors believe this.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

The great stampede to the borders of Oklahoma is a good thing for the railroads in that region, but it will result in the ruin of many families who have sold all their belongings to join the boomers. There are nearly four applicants for every homestead now on the ground, and every fresh arrival adds to existing complications.—Bohater Union.

It is not surprising that much significance is attached to the Prince of Wales' declaration of a desire to be introduced to Parnell. Five years ago such a statement would have convulsed aristocratic circles in Great Britain. If it means anything, it means that the heir of the throne does not entirely disapprove of the Home Rule movement. It certainly ought to aid the Parnellites in a political sense.—Utica Observer.

There is strong objection on the part of McAllister and his four hundred to changing the centennial route of march so as to pass Union Square and salute the statues of Washington and Lincoln. "I could stand Washington, gentlemen," he has reported to his said, "but when you put in Lincoln, who was unmistakably a flat boatman at one time in his life, you ask the blood of the McAllisters too much."—Albany Times.

"I know no race nor color in the Republic," says the President to Southern office seekers. "Each candidate will stand on his merits." This does not mean that a colored man who is as fit for an office as a white man will not get it, but that fitness must decide absolutely, without sentiment coming in to play at all. Offices do not exist for the benefit of office seekers, but for the proper service of the people who pay the salaries.—N. Y. Press.

Since crucifixion was abolished no more radical change in the execution of malefactors has been made than that which the state of New York has instituted. In other days a mere monarchical edict sufficed to establish the method of execution, without regard to humanity. The latest change is made in the name of humanity, without demonstrating that it is more humane than hanging, and with the best of scientific testimony against it.—Buffalo Express.

The change of Administration has not made the silver men happy. The new Secretary of the Treasury persists as obstinately as his predecessor in refusing to buy more than half of silver coinage, and they have difficulty in disposing of the rest. They think he ought to buy it all and they are threatening that, when Congress meets again, they will make him. It is a wonder the idea has not yet struck the Western farmers who have swarms of coins on their hands that the Secretary of Agriculture ought to be compelled to buy their wheat.—Philadelphia Times, Dem.

What is this nonsense that is talked about appointments to pay campaign debts? President Harrison appoints men to office, and they say he is paying campaign debts. Mayor Grant appoints Richard Croker to be Chamberlain, and no appointment could be more proper; yet they tell us that Grant is paying campaign debts. The essence of politics, men and brethren, and of life, too, is to stand by your friends. This is what Harrison does—sometimes, and that is what Mayor Grant does always. That is why Grant is a popular Mayor, approved so far both by friends and foes.—N. Y. Sun.

This is an amusing idea—that Postmaster General Wanamaker's utterances in favor of Prohibition are calculated to embarrass and commit the Administration. Ours is not a ministerial Government, and the Postmaster, much as some of our political Anglomaniacs would like to have it so. The controversy between License and Prohibition is one to be fought out within state lines, and Mr. Wanamaker can express any views he chooses without keeping the Administration awake nights, just as Secretary Tracy could favor or oppose a rapid transit bill without making that a national issue.—N. Y. Tribune.

Pension Commissioner Tanner has made a decision which shows that he does not regard a rigidly policy toward veteran soldiers, the greatest and grandest duty of this great Republic, as his. He has decided that he has decided that all pensioners who are entitled to $24 a month for the loss of a foot or hand under the law of 1883, are entitled to an increase to $30 a month under a law of 1886. This will affect eight hundred veterans who will receive the increase without making any application for it. The veterans will readily recognize a change of atmosphere at the Pension Office as well as the White House.—Binghamton Republican.

DISEASED BLOOD.

Humors, Blotches, Sores, Scales, Crusts, and Loss of Hair Cured.

Terrible Blood Poison. Suffered all a man could suffer and live. Face and body Covered with Awful Sores. Used the Cuticura Remedies Ten Weeks and is Practically Cured. A Remarkable Case.

I contracted a terrible blood-poisoning a year ago. I doctored with two good physicians, neither of whom did me any good. I suffered all a man can suffer and live. Hearing of your Cuticura Remedies I concluded to try them, knowing if they did me no good they could make me no worse. I have been using them about ten weeks, and am most happy to say that I am almost rid of my face sores, that covered my face and body. My face was as bad, if not worse, than that of Miss Boynton, spoken of in your paper, and I would save my face as she did. I am now in the same condition, to use Cuticura, and they will surely be cured. You may use this letter in the interest of suffering humanity. E. W. REYNOLDS, Ashland, Ohio.

Covered with Running Sores 17 Years.

I have been troubled with a skin and scalp disease for seventeen years. My head at times was one running sore, and my body was covered with hemorrhoids. I tried all the remedies I could find, but without effect until I used Cuticura Remedies, and am thankful to state that after two months of their use I am entirely cured. I feel it my duty to you and the public to state the above case. L. R. McOWEN, Jacksonville, Fla.

Dug and Scratched 38 Years.

I, Geo. Dennis Downing ten years before, I have dug and scratched for thirty-eight years. I had what is termed pruritis, and have suffered every kind of torture, and all in vain. I tried all the remedies I could find, but without effect until I used Cuticura Remedies, and am thankful to state that after two months of their use I am entirely cured. I feel it my duty to you and the public to state the above case. L. R. McOWEN, Jacksonville, Fla.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

Relief Instantaneous, Cure Rapid, Radical and Permanent.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than catarrh, and the cause of much of the suffering, of hearing, the human voice, or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and injures the most robust of constitutions. It is to be feared, because it is little understood, by most physicians, is impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to their time. The new battery method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his Radical Cure has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing, breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell and taste, neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHIC SOLVENT, and IMPROVED INHALER, all in one package; price, $5. Ask for SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. Sold everywhere.

QUEER IDEAS SOME PEOPLE HAVE.

Related by a Dealer in Musical Instruments Here—Hobbies.

A dealer in musical instruments in Rondout said to-day: "Some people have queer ideas as to what constitutes a good instrument. They do not go altogether on sound, but imagine if an instrument is old it adds tone and value to it. It is true some violins improve with age, and it is also true that others become worthless when rusty with time. There is a woman living in this city who makes a comfortable living in selling violins. Her way of doing business is to purchase a violin for about $3 or $4, take it home, place it in her garret, where it becomes covered with cobwebs and looks ancient. Then she circulates a story that she has a violin that was found in a cloister in Europe. Some amateur, who hopes one day to become an Ole Bull, learns of the 'old instrument.' He goes to the woman's home and purchases the violin, paying a good round price, the woman, of course, professing to be very loth to part with it, but is compelled to do so, as she is badly in need of money. That woman takes a violin of me last week for $3, and I've no doubt but that in a short time, after she circulates her story, she will find a customer who will pay 20 times that amount for it. But then people with hobbies must sometimes pay for them. You will probably be surprised to learn that there are people who believe that a violin will never be worth the rosin that is rubbed on the bow unless the instrument is smashed and put together again. Such a fact, as I have had dealings with just that kind of musical maniacs. This forenoon a boatman came into my place. He purchased a fiddle, bow, strings, rosin, a shaving cup, brush, razor, toothbrush, soap, a comb, a hairbrush, a whole outfit. When he went out a friend, who accosted him: 'Hallo, Dick, wacher got there?' 'A fiddle, Dick, an' I tell yer she's a hummer.' You see he was perfectly satisfied that he had purchased a splendid instrument, and I was satisfied to let him think so."

IN AND OUT OF THE PORT OF RONDOUT.

Reported for Cargoes-In and Outgoing Tows—Arrivals at Tidewater.

The steamboat G. A. Hoyt, with a string of boats, will go to Albany, to-night.

The barge J. & W. Gurney was placed on Hillebrand's sectional docks at South-Rondout, to-day.

There arrived at tide-water, at Eddyville, yesterday, 28 Delaware & Hudson Canal boats, laden with $3,440 tons of coal.

The barges Florence and N. E. T. Company, No. 87, reported for cargoes of coal at the Rondout Department of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company to-day.

The whistle of the steamboat James W. Baldwin, from down at the mouth of the Rondout Creek, last night, at 10:28 o'clock, was heard in the city. There was a dense fog on the Hudson River. When the Baldwin reached Newburgh it was deemed unsafe to proceed, and a stop of half an hour was made. Other passenger boats and tows were also compelled to anchor until the fog had somewhat dispersed.

When the propellers Cordis and Dickson left New-York, last night, the following cargo were reported in their tow: Barges Peck, Addie and Carrie, to Rondout; Glusco, to Glusco; Conklin, G. A. Dow, Dayton, Howland, to Newburgh; Morrissey, M. S. Washburn, Dolson, to Haverstraw; boats, Amelia, E. Kearney, Delaware & Hudson Canal boats, to Rondout; Pennsylvania Coal Company boats, Catharine, B. W. Burleigh, to Newburgh; scow No. 2, to Rockland Lake; scow No. 30, to Red Hook; schooner Sea Bird, to Poughkeepsie.

FIRE ALARM SYSTEM FOR THIS CITY.

What an Old Fireman Has to Say in Relation to the Matter.

A Rondout old fireman said to-day: "This City needs a fire alarm system. When a fire occurs now, firemen rush pell mell about the streets, and cannot tell in what direction the fire may be. Then the fire bells are rung unnecessarily long. In Kingston, when a small fire occurred yesterday morning, the whistle of a locomotive was blown for half an hour, and the bells in engine houses were rung for a long time. That is only one out of 50 instances. If we had a system of fire alarms it would not just where to go, and half the population of this City would not be deprived of a night's rest on account of a false alarm or a small fire."

Another Life Blasted.

"Yes, you may have my daughter's hand in marriage if you succeed in doing what I have asked you," said a Wurts-street, Rondout, man to a young suitor last night.

"I will take you at your word," gallily responded the owner of an incipient mouse-tache.

"The three minutes are up," said the master of the house as he tucked his watch in his vest pocket.

"Lost! lost!" was the agonizing cry of the young man as the "Pigs in Clover" puzzle dropped from his nervous hands. He dashed madly from the house and was lost in the darkness of the night.

An Alleged Exposure.

Copies of an alleged exposure of secret societies, including the Grand Army of the Republic and Knights of Labor, have been received in this City. The books were published by a Chicago concern, but the author's name is not given. Those who have read the publication say it is a feeble attempt to "say something," and that the ideas set forth, as to what constitutes a secret society, are ridiculous in the extreme. The book is said to be an insult to the fair fame acquired by many organizations in this and other cities.

People Who are Ill.

There are many people ill from colds in this City and the doctors are kept busy.

Charles Perrine, at one time a resident of Rondout, but now of New-Hamburgh, is ill. State Senator J. A. Deane, of Copake, Columbia County, is suffering his health.

Dr. C. A. Munn, of Kingston, has been confined to his home for some days from illness.

Recorder's Court.

This forenoon a warrant was issued by Recorder Hussy, of this City, for the arrest of Thomas J. Satchy, alias "Yorker Hughes." A young fellow named Martin Mink made the complaint. He said McGaghey assaulted him.

Promised for Sunday:

Rain on the coast, clearing in the interior, cooler.

DOINGS IN NEW-YORK CITY.

A BREEZY LETTER FROM MISS HELEN A. JOHNSON.

Exhibition of Paintings in the Academy of Design—Kind Words for Artist Jervis McEntee—A Veteran in the Ranks of Literature.

It is only with feelings of the greatest pleasure that any one interested in the progress of art in our country can visit the present exhibition of paintings, recently opened at the Academy of Design, corner of Fourth-avenue and Twenty-third-street. If one but walks through the various galleries glancing only in a general way at the many canvases upon the walls, he cannot help but notice the general improvement in the variety of subjects and the character of the work. Only comparatively a few years ago the pictures were small in size, unimportant in subject and monotonous and mediocre in tone and technique, or else mere daubs.

FINE ART COLLECTION.

There are 547 canvases upon the walls, many of them of a very large size, which makes the number smaller than at some other exhibitions, but adds a value to the collection. The Hanging Committee have done their work tolerably well, although, of course, there are many dissatisfied ones, every one could not see the truth in the matter, which is directly opposite the entrance from the corridor into the large south gallery, the largest one of the five comprising the suite, in addition to the corridor.

Some 300 unfortunates were disappointed after the pictures were accepted for want of room to accommodate them on the walls. Of course it is an exciting time amongst the artists, as many hundreds of pictures are always rejected and each one is anxious to know whether his has been received and how it has been hung. It is the event of the year with many, not so much the older artists as with those who are just rising into fame.

In the schools connected with the Academy there are usually 200 or 300 pupils who are studying art in all its various branches. These are the Painting Class, the Modeling Class, the Sketch Class, the Composition Class and the Costume Class and the Life Class, besides the regular Drawing Classes from casts, etc. These are directed by Professors of the highest grade, thus enabling ambitious young men and women to complete an art education at a comparatively trifling cost. Several prizes are awarded during the exhibition and these are voted for by the exhibitors themselves. The Thomas B. Clarke Prize, $500, is for the best American figure composition, painted by the United States by an American citizen without limitation of age. The Julius Hallgarten Prize, $300, $200 and $100, for the three best American pictures, painted by American citizens under 35 years of age. The Norman W. Dodge Prize, $500, is for the best painting executed in the United States by a woman. Mary Curtis Richardson and Amanda Brewster Sewell have arrived at this honor.

OCCUPIES PLACE OF HONOR.

Thomas Hovender's very excellent picture "In the Hands of the Enemy" [after Gettysburg] occupies the place of honor in the present exhibition. It is a masterpiece of art, for it is well composed, admirably painted and harmonious in colors. The wounded soldier in his war-worn garments is tenderly cared for by his enemies. Seated in the most comfortable chair in the tidy living room of the family, his hand is resting on a table, while a comrade dresses his wounded foot, the family group of father, mother and daughter, regard him with the most affectionate solicitude. You can feel the sweetness of the good mother's love as she cradles him in her arms, toward you and the charming expression of the young girl speaks for itself. On either side of this are two strong and well-painted landscapes, the finest in the exhibition. The better one of the two is by R. M. Shurtliff, the artist soldier of whom I wrote you some time ago, the hero of the first big capture by the enemy. It is truly a magnificent representation of the most charming bit of woody interior found among the wilds of the Adirondacks. Then Forest Leaves are a "bright" well rendered picture, in which light and shadow seem to be chasing each other here and there amongst the leaves and boughs, until the forest seems fairly aglow with brightness. Just such a path through the woods, over which one would love to saunter on a bright October day, when the leaves are falling and the birds are singing in the branches and the squirrels leaping from the boughs, so still and quiet seems it all. The picture deserves its good fortune in the hanging. Its companion, by Arthur Parton, is also a woodland scene, but a more gloomy and beautiful, painted, but it lacks the atmosphere and continuity of the former.

PAINTED BY JERVIS MCENTEE.

Many other fine canvases might be noticed, three by your artist, dwelling among you, Jervis McEntee. A November landscape, dreary and chill. The Far East and "Birds," all strong, well painted and satisfying works. The portraits and single figure pieces form a gallery of themselves and make an interesting study. The whole East room is devoted to them and an imposing array.

The principal ones are those of Rt. Rev. Horatio Potter, by Daniel Huntington; Samuel J. Tilden, by Thomas Hicks; Judge Monson, by Eastman Johnson, and Anna Katherine Green, author of "Leaves of Grass," by L. G. Sellstedt. J. G. Brown's "Newsboys," which is a picture strikes me as not having as much life as his pictures usually display. William Morgan's "Minor Chord" is one of the prettiest figure pieces in the collection. A sweet faced young girl, who, to the pleasure of the artist, strikes the minor chord of her heart and drops her instrument, while she muses upon her life. "La Belle Helene," by Benoni Irwin, is a particularly good, bright, happy, cheerful Helene. George Inness, whom many people consider one of our greatest landscape painters, sends the largest canvas in the collection, "The Coming Storm," with a magnificent dark sky, the clouds driving before the wind and bringing out the strong lights and shadows on the ground beneath. The many fine works of this artist are not noticed for the present are all equally interesting to lovers of art.

"GRACE GREENWOOD."

It was my privilege recently to look upon the face, and listen to the voice, and take by the hand that veteran in the ranks of literature, Mrs. Lippincott, of Philadelphia, better known as "Grace Greenwood." Who does not remember reading with delight her graceful stories, laughing and weeping by turns? She delighted a small audience gathered in the rough studio of the sculptor, Edwin Elwell, for an hour, with her delineation of the character of the Yankee. Taking in her strong points and peculiarities, she related anecdote after anecdote in her quaint dialect, gathered from long familiarity with the people, illustrating her thrift, her parsimoniousness, her patriotism, etc. It was a pleasure to see the dear old lady, whose face, which Time has scarcely furrowed in spite of her years, her good-natured double chin, her silver-threaded hair and spectacles, as seated upon the platform, she read in a loud, clear voice from her papers. She is quite stout, of good height, and wears her black lace evening dress over light silk, with long train equal to her younger sisters. Her daughter, a charming young lady, gave us some songs in a very pretty manner. Miss Griewold, who is the only one, comes back from her European studies with quite a reputation, sang with a lovely voice several old and new songs. Mr. Elwell, the host of the occasion, a sculptor of much merit, his marbles exhibiting a life and fire not always attainable by the chisel.

The evening after the lecture, the artist, exchanging courtesies with the host and guests, Grace Greenwood will be long remembered after she leaves this world for the richness and purity of her writings, her quaint humor and nobility of character. Her comments upon the Yankee character were not complete without a reference to good old Josiah Whitcomb in "The Old Homestead," whose remarkable simplicity and pure character is the magnet which still draws crowds to the Academy of Music. She emphasized the prudence of the Yankee by Joshua's singing. "Who brought this new parlor chair out into the kitchen?" and his care to take it immediately to its place in that sanctum sanctorum, the front room, kept only for company, weddings and funerals. It seems as though everybody in New-York, and within 50 miles of it, must have wept and laughed over this play, and still the crowds are as great as ever, and still the everlasting naturalness it makes people enjoy it far more than the portrayal of scenes of vice and wickedness, or the painted ballet girls of the comic opera.

DRAWING SUCCESS.

This Little Lord Fauntleroy are the best drawing successes now on the stage. Master "Tom" Russell, who alternates with Elsie Leslie Lyde in the character, is a manly fellow, with a dash of his part well, not withstanding his immense disadvantages. Without the reputation of his little comrade against him, he would be considered a prodigy.

HELEN A. JOHNSON.

The Trout of the Mountain Stream. Some sing of the bass with its gleaming mail, or the giant tarpon with silver scale, but the angler's joy, and the artist's dream is the spotted trout of the mountain stream.

With his mottled sides and his sharp-pointed snout, and his crimson stars with their fringe of gold, and his painted fins and his silvery gleam, He has stolen the trout in the mountain stream.

With mouth wide spread and with glittering eye, He springs from the depths at the dancing fly, And swift as the shaft from the bent bow, He shoots down to his home in the waves below.

When soft from the south the breezes blow, When the waters are cleared of the melting snow, He seeks his life's breath on the mountain stream, I seek for the trout in his mountain stream.

When the apple blossoms are snowy white, And the swallows with the scarlet make bright, He seeks his life's breath on the mountain stream, I seek for the trout in his mountain stream.

When the meadows are fringed with green; When the bobolink on the "pole-stick" swings, And the hermit thrush in the woodland sings, He seeks his life's breath on the mountain stream, I seek for the trout in his mountain stream.

NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

EDWIN BOOTH will start for the West tomorrow, to fulfill the engagements that he made before his attack of illness at Rochester. He has entirely recovered.

Gov. AMES of Massachusetts announces through the Boston Journal his intention to retire at the close of his term. Ex-Congressman Crapo and Lieut. Gov. Brackett are already in the field as candidates for the succession. Gov. Ames is in poor health. He has been elected three times.

MEREDITH STANLEY jumped from the high bridge over the Ohio at Cincinnati Thursday afternoon, a height of 285 feet. As he descended towards the water he drew his body up like a ball, his knees being pressed against his chest. His feet struck the rocky bottom of the river and he rebounded to the surface. When pulled into a boat he was unconscious, but soon recovered. Yesterday he was at work, none the worse for his awful leap, which is said to beat the biggest that Steve Brodie has made.

ANTHONY COMSTOCK has secured the removal from office of David Blair, Postmaster at Broadbain, Fulton county, who had been operating as a sort of agent for the "green goods" swindlers. Under his favorable manipulations the swindlers secured the delivery from the office of thirty or forty letters per day, which was more than the average receipts by the entire population. This business is very dangerous to swindlers unless they can get some one in the postoffice to protect them.

THE correspondence in which Secretary Blaine invited Minister Belmont to remain at his post in Madrid till Mr. Palmer could reach that city, is published. The Secretary compliments Mr. Belmont as "a faithful and competent representative," whose retirement is regretted. The Democratic sympathy recently expended upon Mr. Belmont because he was the first man bounced was wasted. His resignation was received at Washington by cable three days before Mr. Cleveland's retirement.

ANOTHER of those ocean mysteries that create universal fear and anxiety is reported. The ocean steamer Danmark, which sailed from Christiansand, Norway, March 26th, with 700 people on board, has been found at sea a floating wreck, without a soul left to tell the story of her disaster. The only hope of those whose friends were on board is that she might have been passed by another ship and her passengers and crew rescued. This is not by any means impossible or even improbable, and the hope will be clung to for weeks if nothing more is heard.

THE White Caps in Dubois county, Ind., aroused themselves from a condition of innocuous desuetude Thursday morning, in order to whip John Lansford, a road surveyor, for impounding their hogs. When they arrived at his house at 1 p. m. and proceeded to go through his premises he opened fire upon them with a double-barreled shot-gun. They returned the fire, whereupon he took down a brace of seven-shooter pistols and continued the defense. The result was a retreat of the White Caps with three wounded men who had to be carried on the shoulders of their comrades. Lansford's son received a slight flesh wound.

NANCY BROOKS of Ohio was granted yesterday the pension that was denied her when the Bureau was in Democratic hands. Her son, a soldier, was drowned in West Virginia while bathing. Commissioner Black rejected the claim on the ground that "this death had no direct connection with his military duty." Assistant Secretary Bussey decides that he was obeying the command of his superior officer to keep himself in a cleanly condition. The average Democrat may remark that this is a strained or doubtful construction of facts, but patriotic men will be pleased to observe that the soldier gets the benefit of the doubt every time under the new order of things.

HERBERT F. BEECHER, son of Henry Ward Beecher, has been indicted, along with two others, at Port Townsend, Washington Territory, for stealing money from the government. These men held offices in the custom house, and systematically robbed the government by reporting smaller amounts than were collected. Thus, on the British bark Madeira, which came into the port last June, duties amounting to $6,038 were collected, but only $5,044 was reported to the government. The stealings amounted to many thousands of dollars a year. Beecher was "under a cloud" when Mr. Cleveland appointed him, as a reward for his father's support in 1884. A term in prison seems necessary to straighten out his moral crookedness.

SOME orphans are badly needed in Poughkeepsie. The will of John Guy Vassar bequeathed $80,000 for the building of an orphan asylum and $100,000 for the support of the inmates, who are to be indigent and legitimate orphans of Dutchess county. The Eagle recently started an inquiry concerning the prospect for boarders, and has received returns from fifteen towns. In these there are only two children who can enter the institution under the terms of the will. There are five towns yet to hear from, but they are not expected to yield any orphans. The prospect for the two children who are to live in an $80,000 edifice and eat up the income of a $100,000 investment is overwhelming. They realize that it was better to be born lucky than rich.

A TRIBUNE reporter has heard from a young New York mechanic who went to Washington Territory last fall. He writes that he is earning between $40 and $50 a week at his trade and did not wear an overcoat or gloves during the winter. On the first of this month the weather was like May at the East, the farmers had nearly finished their spring planting, and the markets displayed green peas, beans, radishes and lettuce. Opportunities equal to the one he has struck are to be found in all parts of the territory. The mildness of Washington weather has long been known. It is due to the Pacific "gulf stream," which sweeps across the ocean from Japan and strikes the American coast between San Francisco and the Alaska Peninsula. Oklahoma is not the only "paradise" that our government holds for the people.

LIST OF DANMARK'S PASSENGERS
In Mails of Britannia which Arrived Last Night; No Tidings.

NEW-YORK, April 13.—The mails from the steamer Britannia, which arrived last night, were distributed this morning, and among the letters was one for Funch, Edge & Company containing a full list of the passengers on the abandoned steamer Danmark. No news concerning the fate of the passenger and crew has yet been received, but the agents of the steamer, which is by this time probably on the bed of the ocean, are hopeful that some passing vessel may have taken them off. In hoping for this good fortune they are half expecting that it will have fallen to the lot of their own steamer, the Island, to have performed such a good piece of work. The Island left Christiansand, March 30, and is expected here at any moment. No other steamers have arrived with any news of having fallen in with drifting boats, and this increases the hope that some steamship rendered timely assistance and took the shipwrecked passengers and their boats all on board.

Telegrams are arriving every hour asking for information concerning friends who were to be on the steamer. A great number of people, who by this time expected to greet their friends, linger around the door of the passenger agent's office, anxious to hear tidings, and yet fearful that the news that may reach them will blast all hopes.

PASSENGERS BELIEVED RESCUED.

By Cable to The Freeman.
LONDON, April 13.—Captain Bond, of the Inman steamer City of Chester, which sighted the abandoned steamer Danmark, believes the passengers and crew of the Danmark were rescued. He bases his belief on the fact that the Danmark's boats were gone. A chain cable was seen hanging over the bow of the Danmark, and this leads Captain Bond to believe it had been in tow of another vessel. It has been definitely ascertained that there were 723 persons on board the steamer Danmark. This number includes 628 passengers and 95 officers and crew.

THE "ISLAND" AT SANDY HOOK.
NEW-YORK, April 13.—The steamer Island, from Copenhagen, which it is believed may have some news of the passengers of the steamer Danmark, was sighted off Sandy Hook lightship at 1:45 p. m.

DISASTERS DURING RECENT STORM.

Bark Ran Ashore to Prevent Foundering; Men Lost From Vessels.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
NORFOLK, Va., April 13.—The Norwegian bark reported ashore near Big Kinnakeet carrying station, N. C., proves to be the Wolsley, Captain Olson, from the River Platte to Portland, Me., with no cargo. The vessel sprang a leak during the recent gale and was run ashore to prevent its foundering. Its crew of 13 men were saved by the Big Kinnakeet life-saving crew. The bark will probably be a total loss.

Matthew Granbury, colored, and Robert Whitehurst, a white boy, were drowned when the schooner Parrot went down in Albemarle Sound.

Frederick Gaskill and a man named Bailey, who were on the schooner Caroline, were also lost.

Seven horses, 200 sheep and some cattle were swept off Parramores Beach, Accomac County, Va., during the storm last Saturday night and drowned.

Captain John Sparrow, residing on Pungo-league Creek, Va., was drowned during the storm.

THE ADLER ENCOUNTERED STORMS.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
NEW-YORK, April 13.—The steamer Adler, which arrived from Bremen last night, encountered severe storms and rough weather. During the last three days of its voyage the water continually washed over the vessel, tearing away its life boats and breaking its guard rails. One of the crew was washed overboard and drowned.

MANY BODIES RECOVERED AT SAMOA.

Nipise is So Badly Injured It May Not Return to the United States.

By Cable to The Freeman.
SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 13.—The German warship Olga, which was stranded during the recent hurricane at Samoa, has arrived here for the purpose of repairing its damages, which are slight. It brought from Apia the commander and two others, and 20 of the crew of the German warship Adler, which was wrecked in the same storm. The screw steamer Reckton, of 1,198 tons, will proceed from here to Samoa, where it will take on board the crews of the wrecked American warships. It will then convey them to San Francisco.

The steamer Lubek, from Apia April 2, has arrived here. It reports that the Nipise is so badly injured that it is doubtful whether it will be able to return to the United States.

A large number of the bodies of the officers and men of the various ships who were drowned during the storm have been recovered and buried.

The officers of the wrecked German warship Eber were also on board the Lubek. They will proceed to Germany on the steamer Hamburg, which sails from here April 24. One hundred men belonging to the German fleet, including three officers, remain at Apia to guard German interests.

The Olga reports that the Nipise lost its rudder and propeller, and that the Trenton is full of water. The Adler lies in the same position in which the storm left it. The bulk of the Olga is sound, with the exception of a hole in its stern which was made when it stranded. Two plates had been riveted over this hole, and the ship made no water during the voyage here.

ARRIVAL OF HURRICANE SURVIVORS.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—The steamship Alameda arrived at 9 o'clock this morning from Australia. It touched at the Samoan Islands and has on board a number of officers and sailors from the men-of-war wrecked in Apia harbor. The Alameda had one of the roughest trips in its experience, encountering gales and heavy seas until it reached Honolulu. It stopped at Tutuila, an island of the Samoan group, at 10 o'clock on the morning of March 29, where it found the American schooner Equator with American mails and 10 cadets, from the American warships, wrecked at Apia. Captain Morse, upon learning of the disaster to the American ships, at once sailed for Apia. On that day he met the mail cutter and received the German mails at Apia. The Alameda took on board 36 wounded seamen; also Lieutenant Ripley and 29 wounded seamen to come up on the Honolulu steamer. The Alameda brought the following naval cadets from the men-of-war Trenton: R. Stocker, F. W. Helms, B. C. Decker, B. W. Wells, W. S. Croke, G. W. Logan and R. Jackson, and naval cadets H. A. Wiley, L. A. Stafford and J. A. Lejeune, of the Vandallia.

SUCCESS IN HATCHING SHEEPHEAD.

Letter from Commander of the United States Fish Commission Steamer.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
BOSTON, April 13.—A letter from Lieutenant Robert Platt, commanding the United States Fish Commission steamer Fish Hawk, says much success has been met with in hatching sheephead. Up to April 1, 19,500, 000 sheephead eggs had been obtained and impregnated. It was not possible to handle that number in the hatching apparatus on board the Fish Hawk and 4,000,000 of the impregnated eggs were put overboard to hatch under natural conditions. Of the remainder 9,775, 000 fry had been hatched out and put to sea. It takes about two days to hatch the eggs, and in one or two days more the fry are ready to be deposited in the sea. The fish from which the eggs were obtained were taken at Punta Gorda and Boca Grand Pass.

What Chairman of Military Committee of Centennial Says.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
NEW-YORK, April 13.—Colonel Cruzer, Chairman of the Military Committee, has decided not to change the line of march of the military parade on April 30. He says it would be very appropriate to pass by the statues of Washington and Lafayette, but it would be bad policy to change the route of the parade at this late day. The University Place stand would be of no value, and many persons who have secured windows on Fifth-avenue would be deprived of seeing the parade.

OLD HUTCH'S SECRET.

B. P. Hutchison, better known as Old Hutch, astonished the world by the manner in which he manipulated the Chicago wheat market—making, 'tis said, the enormous sum of $5,000,000, on his wheat deals, in less than a month. Eccentric; possessed of little education, his success seemed marvellous! His friends and those who know him best were not surprised.

A prominent resident broker of Chicago, who knows him well, tersely sums up Hutchison in these words: "What he knows, he knows well, and that's Old Hutch's secret."

We once heard a prominent stock operator, speaking of Jay Gould, remark: "He knew a year ago what the balance of us are just finding out. Gould knows his business thoroughly, and we don't, else we, too, would be Goulds."

A noted manufacturer of certain medicinal remedies has achieved a world-wide reputation simply because he possesses a thorough knowledge of his business.

Enterprising and progressive, he was not disposed to rest content with the introduction of the only genuine remedy for the prevention and cure of all kidney and liver disorders, the name and character of Warner's Safe Cure being familiarly known in every household throughout the entire civilized world—but he concluded to further benefit the world and revive some old-fashioned remedies which have, for a period, been lost.

Re-discovered, they are the oldest, the newest and the best.

Used when the Pilgrim Fathers landed, they have been much improved upon and are now known as "Warner's Log Cabin Remedies," chief among them being "Log Cabin Sarsaparilla," for

Related by a Dealer in Musical Instruments—Hobbies.

A dealer in musical instruments in Rondout said to-day: "Some people have queer ideas as to what constitutes a good instrument. They do not go altogether on sound, but imagine if an instrument is old it adds tone and value to it. It is true some violins improve with age, and it is also true that others become worthless when rusty with time. There is a woman living in this City who makes a comfortable living in selling violins. Her way of doing business is to purchase a violin for about $3 or $4, take it home, place it in her garret, where it becomes covered with cobwebs and looks ancient. Then she circulates a story that she has a violin that was found in a cloister in Europe. Some amateur who hopes one day to become an Old Bull, learns of the 'old instrument.' He goes to the woman's house and purchases the violin, paying a good round price, the woman, of course, professing to be very loth to part with it, but is compelled to do so, as she is badly in need of money. This woman bought a violin of me last week for $3, and I've no doubt but that in a short time, after she circulates her story, she will find a customer who will pay 20 times that amount for it. But then people with hobbies sometimes pay for them. They will probably be surprised to learn that there are people who believe that a violin will never be worth the rosin that is rubbed on the bow unless the instrument is smashed and put together again. Such a fact, as I have had dealings with just that kind of musical mania. This fellow, a hootman came into my place. He purchased a fiddle, bow, strings, rosin, a shaving cup, brush, razor, strip and two cigars. He paid $2.60 for the whole outfit. When he went out a friend told me: 'Hullo, Bill, waiter got there?' 'A fiddle, Dick, and I tell yer she's a hummer.' 'You see he was perfectly satisfied that he had purchased a splendid instrument, and I was satisfied to let him think so.'

FIRE ALARM SYSTEM FOR THIS CITY.

What an Old Fireman Has to Say in Relation to the Proposed System.

A Rondout old fireman said to-day: "This City needs a fire alarm system. When a fire occurs now, firemen rush pell mell about the streets, and cannot tell in what direction the fire may be. Then the fire bells are rung unnecessarily long. In Kingston, when a small fire occurred yesterday morning, the whistle of a locomotive was blown for half an hour, and the bells in the engine house were rung for a long time. That is only one out of 50 instances. If we had a system of fire alarms firemen would know just where to go, and half the population of this City would not be deprived of a night's rest on account of a false alarm or a small fire."

Another Life Blasted.

"Yes, you may have my daughter's hand in marriage if you succeed in doing what I have asked you," said a Wurts-street, Rondout, man to a young suitor last night.

"I will take you at your word," gallily responded the owner of an incipient moustache.

"The three minutes are up!" said the master of the house as he tucked his watch in his vest pocket.

"Lost! lost!" was the agonizing cry of the young man as the "Pigs in Clover" puzzle dropped from his nervous hands. He dashed madly from the house and was lost in the darkness of the night.

An Alleged Exposure.

Copies of an alleged exposure of secret societies, including the Grand Army of the Republic and Knights of Labor, have been received in this City. The books were published by a Chicago concern, but the author's name is not given. Those who have read the publication say it is a feeble attempt to "say something," and that the ideas set forth, as to what constitutes a secret society, are ridiculous in the extreme. The book is also said to be an insult to the fair fame acquired by many organizations in this and other cities.

People Who are Ill.

There are many people suffering from colds in this City and the doctors are kept busy.

Charles Perrine, at one time a resident of Rondout, but now of New-Hamburg, is ill.

State Senator G. A. Deane, of Copake, Columbia County, is regaining his health.

Dr. C. A. Munn, of Kingston, has been confined to his home for some days from illness.

Recorder's Court.

This forenoon a warrant was issued by Recorder Husey, of this City, for the arrest of one Thomas McCahey, alias "Yorker Hughes." A young man named Martin Mink made the complaint. He said McCahey assaulted him.

Promised for Sunday:

Rain on the coast, clearing in the interior, cooler.

DOINGS IN NEW-YORK CITY.

A BREEZY LETTER FROM MISS HELEN A. JOHNSON.

Exhibition of Paintings in the Academy of Design—Kind Words for Artist Jervis McEntee—A Veteran in the Ranks of Literature.

It is only with feelings of the greatest pleasure that any one interested in the progress of art in our country can visit the present exhibition of paintings, recently opened at the Academy of Design, corner of Fourth-avenue and Twenty-third-street. If one but walks through the various galleries glancing only in a general way at the many canvases upon the walls, he cannot help but notice the general improvement in the variety of subjects and the character of the work. Only comparatively a few years ago the pictures were small in size, unimportant in subject and monotonous and mediocre in tone and technique, or else mere daubs.

FINE ART COLLECTION.

There are 547 canvases upon the walls, many of them of a very large size, which makes the number smaller than at some other exhibitions, but adds a value to the collection. The Hanging Committee have done their work tolerably well, although, of course, there are many dissatisfied ones, every one could not have the place of honor, which is directly opposite the entrance from the corridor into the large south gallery, the largest one of the five completing the suite, in addition to the corridor. Some 200 unfortunates were disappointed after their pictures were accepted for want of room to accommodate them on the walls. Of course it is an exciting time amongst the artists, as many have been waiting for their work to be accepted and each one is anxious to know whether his has been received and how it has been hung. It is the event of the year with those who are just rising into fame. In the schools connected with the Academy there are usually 200 or 300 pupils who are studying art in all its various branches. These are the Painting Class, the Modeling Class, the Sketch Class, the Composition Class and the Costume Class and the Life Class, besides the regular Drawing Classes from casts, etc. These are directed by Professors of the highest grade, thus enabling ambitious young men and women to complete an art education at a comparatively trifling cost. Several prizes are awarded during the exhibition and these are voted for by the exhibitors.
